BRIDGE FOR ARTISANS

India International Science Festival (IISF) , Haryana

This year, Bhavyata Foundation had the opportunity to showcase and promote traditional Indian board games at the India International Science Festival (IISF) from 17th to 20th January 2024 at DBT-THSTI, Faridabad, Haryana. The IISF, a collaborative initiative of various ministries, focuses on making science enjoyable and accessible. Our stall was located in the section dedicated to science through games and toys, where we highlighted traditional games and emphasized how these indoor games enhance mathematical, strategic, and decision-making skills. The event drew around 500 science teachers and students from across India, and the positive response, especially the nostalgia it evoked in some participants who recalled playing these games with their grandparents, marked the success of our stall.

REVIEWS

Sutra Santati was a very informative and well-curated event.

Indian fabric is well appreciated all over the world. The efforts behind each saree, the processes involved, and the time invested add to our appreciation for our Indian artisans and weavers. The final product is mesmerising. Ms Samira Shah, with her expertise, really added value to the event.

Ms. Ashwini Vernekar, IWC Bombay
